Installed ubuntu 16.04 on my HP laptop. Every time the PC boots, it turns the display to the wrong resolution. (Not 1920x1080) This happens whether the PC is turned off or on. I've tried xrandr to fix it, but nothing works. (xrandr: Failed to get size of gamma for output default)

Hi, Windows 10 1803: I'm getting a message telling me that I need to sign in to the store and Windows has disabled your PC because it has not been used for a long time. I have removed the PC from my account so I can't do a lot with it, but I'm not sure if I can sign in to the store with it to get it back. Is there a way to sign in to the store and sign out of it to get it back? I updated the BIOS on my HP Pavilion 15 on March 13, 2020. I am unable to turn it on now. Also, none of the buttons on the keyboard work (as far as I know, I don't use them). I have tried multiple reboots and it has not restored. I have sent HP a message and they have told me it is out of warranty and that I need to send it in. I also called and they said they do not have my phone number. What should I do? I am not sure where to start!

My Samsung Note 8 has an issue where it won't turn on. I have used the Samsung repair facilities before, but I am unable to find any more information about the repair. I need to be able to access some of the phones apps. Not only does that work (with a hack), I have 3 more systems in the same situation as my phone. My Motorola Moto G4, my Samsung Galaxy s7, and my Philips HP Touchsmart 610 with the display stuck on "alarm" and no on/off button. I can't get them to turn off either. I have tried replacing the battery, un-frustrating the screen, and un-frustrating the OS
